The Directorate has been emphasizing use of ISI marked materials through circulars issued from time to time. All ADGs/Chief Engineers are requested again to ensure that ISI marked materials may only be used. If for certain materials, ISI certification is not available, materials conforming to relevant standards of BIS may be used. In case, for any material, BIS standards have not been laid down, material conforming to CPWD specifications may be used. Where even CPWD specifications are not available, specifications of material should be decided by the Technical sanctioning authority with due consideration to Manufacturers' specifications of the material.
